Troops Not Among Those Selected for Early Return From Border.

50,000 ORDERED HOME

Made Up From States Which Sent Units Many Months Ago.

Washington, Jan. 21.—General Funston has designated more than twenty-five thousand national guardsmen on the border for the return home and muster out of the federal service. They start home as soon as transportation can be arranged. Their return will leave between forty-five and fifty thousand guardsmen at the border.

The troops ordered home consist of the first Arkansas, the first North Carolina and the second Kentucky infantry regiments, and various other units from South Carolina, Louisiana and Tennessee.

Sixteen infantry regiments from northern, eastern and western states and a number of units in these states are also included in the return order. War department officials continue to withhold comment on the reports indicating that General Pershing's regulars are moving out of Mexico, and the statements announcing the guardsmen designated for return does not include these orders with the withdrawal plans.

The understanding, however, has been that with the withdrawal from Mexico, all guardsmen will gradually return home.

LEGISLATED HIMSELF OUT OF REGULAR DRINK

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 21.—A member of the Georgia legislature strolled into the office of a state house official with a weary and thirsty look on his face. "Gimme a drink," he demanded of the state house official, calling the latter by his given name, as the two have known each other since boyhood.

"Haven't got one," said the state house official.

"Why haven't you?" demanded the lawmaker.

"Because you fellows passed such a drastic law that a man can't keep a little in his desk without committing a misdemeanor."

"Oh, don't be a fool. Gimme a drink," insisted the legislator, but he didn't get it, for the old-time bottle was gone from the left-hand bottom drawer.

SEEK ROOMS AT C. OF C.

Tourists Throng Quarters All Day and Many Are Located in Private Homes.

All day yesterday the Chamber of Commerce was thronged with new comers who had been unable to find rooms at the hotels and who besought the aid of the Chamber's bureau of information to find suitable accommodations in private homes.

Arrangements had been made to this end, and employees of the Chamber were on hand early to give out information and to supply the recent arrivals with lists of rooms for rent in private homes.

A news story in the Herald yesterday to the effect that the bureau would be open all day was the means of taxing the capacity of the information department maintained by the Chamber, and incidentally of bringing together many seekers after rooms and the persons having them to rent.

All over the city there are vacant rooms that might easily be filled, if the owners will only co-operate with the Chamber of Commerce, Secretary Livingston declared last night. "Above all," he said, "we want the people, householders and strangers, to know that the information bureau's service is free to all. There is no fee of any kind, and everyone is not only welcome to make use of it, but is urged to do so."

WEATHER THIS WEEK.

Weather forecast for this week for the South Atlantic and East Gulf states says: "Rains are probable first part of week and again about Friday. In Florida, however, fair; moderate temperature, first part of week followed by colder Tuesday or Wednesday, and continued cold thereafter to close of week."

STEAMER IN DIRE DISTRESS

Sends Out Wireless Calls, But Cannot Be Located in a Gale.

Boston, Jan. 21.—Wireless signals of distress from the Swedish steamer Scandinavia, were picked up early Friday morning, by the British freighter Start Point.

The call was repeated three times, the last call being very faint the report says.

The Scandinavia gave no position, and no attempt was made to reach the distressed vessel because the Start Point was battling with a gale at the time.

The calls are believed to be the same that were picked up by the tanker John D. Archbold, near Cape Race, New Foundland, yesterday.

HONOR MEMORY OF AMERICANS IN FRANCE

Declares Attitude of Companies in Armor Plate Controversy Is Unfortunate.

Paris, Jan. 21.—Ambassador Sharp and many members of the American colony were present at the ceremonies today at the national theatre, Comedie Francaise, in honor of the memory of the Americans who have died for France.

President Poincare was represented.

The troops ordered home consist of the first Arkansas, the first North Carolina and the second Kentucky infantry regiments, and various other units from South Carolina, Louisiana and Tennessee.

PEACE WORKERS IN CONFERENCE.

Washington, Jan. 21.—In response to a call from the American Peace Society an open conference of peace workers met at the Raleigh Hotel here today to consider a definite program for international reorganization designed to secure a lasting peace at the conclusion of the present war. One of the plans considered was that proposed by Dr. James Brown Scott, official adviser to the state department and president of the American Institute of International Law. This plan calls for the setting up of judicial and conciliatory machinery for the settlement of international disputes on the lines proposed already by the American Peace Society, and indicated by the deliberations of the two Hague tribunals of 1899 and 1907.

JOHN A. McDONALD, OLD COCCANUT GROVE RESIDENT, SERIOUSLY ILL

John A. McDonald, of Coccanut Grove, a resident of that vicinity for the past twenty-six years is seriously ill, and the doctors hold out no hope to the members of his family. One of his sons, George McDonald, who is now living in Key West, was called to the bedside and will remain until a turn comes for the better, or until the end.

The elder Mr. McDonald was a native of the state of New York, but left there about the year 1880, and moved to south Florida. He was joined by other members of his family a year later.

RUSSIA

Has No Idea of Making Peace Until Final Victory Is Secured.

COMPLETE UNITY

With Entente Allies Is Declared in Rescript Issued by Emperor Nicholas.

London, Jan. 21.—Emperor Nicholas, of Russia, has addressed an imperial rescript to the new Russian premier, Prince Golotzine, calling upon him, among other things to see to it that the government devotes its first attention to the question of supplies for the Russian armies and concentrates itself upon the development on a large scale of the measures recently taken in this connection.

The text of the rescript, as transmitted by Reuters, reiterates that Russia is in complete solidarity with the allies and is not entertaining the thought of peace until final victory is obtained, and demands that the entire government co-operate in supplying the armies, and says that the emperor also attaches supreme importance to the further improvement of railroad and waterway transportation, and it also stresses the need of supplying the civil population.

BAR NUDE FIGURES IN MOTION PICTURES

New York, Jan. 21.—The nude in motion pictures and the danger of the over-production of sex problem plays was recognized by the board of review and a ban put on the former, it was announced tonight.

Members of the National association agreed, it is said, not to permit the production of nude figures in photo plays.

AUTO BUSES DOING CAPACITY BUSINESS

The three auto busses plying between Miami and Miami Beach are now carrying nearly a thousand people daily, being loaded to capacity nearly every time a trip is made.

Forty trips are made daily, twenty each way, and twenty-six persons are seated at a time. Frequently, however, people are so anxious to return to Miami after their visit to the beaches that they hang on to the side of the bus rather than wait for the next one.

An additional bus will be put on the run within a few days, greatly increasing the transportation company's facilities for handling the Miami Beach traffic.

CASHIER IS FOUND GUILTY ON MISDEMEANOR CHARGE

Clifton, Ga., Jan. 21.—A verdict of guilty with recommendation that the sentence be for misdemeanor, was returned by the jury today in the case of H. E. Ragsdale, former cashier of the Bank of Omega, charged with the embezzlement of approximately ten thousand dollars. He will be sentenced probably tomorrow.

Mrs. Perry Burton of Hot Springs, who claims she married Ragsdale a year ago, declared her intention of suing for divorce and possibly bringing bigamy charges in Arkansas.

BIG TOURIST CLASS RESUMED YESTERDAY

The tourist class of the Presbyterian Sunday school, as announced previously in the Herald, met yesterday in the Royal Palm park in front of the church and W. S. Witham of Atlanta addressed an audience of about eight hundred. Mr. Witham is a forceful speaker and his address was very interesting as well as instructive. He is a regular winter resident of Miami and many will recall how he helped with this same class. The class meets every Sunday at 9:30 in the park.

Mrs. M. O. Coffin taught the young ladies class and the attendance showed a marked increase. This class promises to be one of the big classes of the school. All of the young ladies are very enthusiastically working to make the class a leading one.

The friends of the school will be pleased to know of a recent donation to the school in the shape of 200 song books. The book selected is entitled "Songs Of Services," published by Rodcleaver Company.

There is a great demand for road building experts and workmen in all parts of the country.

WILL PATROL NORTH COAST

Brazil Sending Vessels to Keep Close Watch on Mysterious Ships.

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 21.—Two Brazilian vessels will leave for the north, Tuesday, to scout the waters between Port Natal and Fernando da Naronha for the purpose of guarding the coast and to keep a close watch on all vessels.

The minister of marine received a telegram from Pernambuco, confirming the commander of the Brazilian ship, that he encountered two cargo vessels, accompanied by two auxiliary ships, believed to be Germans, all flying the American flag.

Newspaper reports say that one hundred sailors from the German gunboat Eber, embarked at Bahia, four days ago.

A Swedish steamer is believed to have met the German raider with her crew aboard.

The minister of marine declared that Brazilian warships, watching the coast, were given instructions to capture any raiders operating in any manner that might injure Brazilian neutrality.

The British auxiliary cruiser Edinburg Castle is here.

FROM HAVANA TO KEY WEST BIG TRAFFIC

P. and O. Steamship Company Pushing the Business—Ferries Burn Oil.

Robert W. Parsons, president of the P. and O. steamship line, left Miami yesterday morning to make a flying trip north on business, but he will return the latter part of the week and expects to spend the better part of the season here, with the exception of an occasional trip to Key West and Havana, to look after the interests of the steamship lines, to which he is giving close attention.

When seen at the Royal Palm hotel, Mr. Parsons spoke enthusiastically about the prospects for his steamship line and declared that it had all the business it could possibly handle at the present time.

The new boat, the J. R. Parrott, is now making regular trips between Key West and Havana, while the Flagler is at Cramp's shipyards in Philadelphia, having its power changed from coal burning to oil burning. The Flagler has been in service for over two years and this is the first time that it has been off its regular run, except on occasions when the sea has been exceptionally rough.

After the change on the Flagler has been made, it will proceed to Key West at once, and both it and the Parrott will be used in the car conveying service, for which there is great demand by Cuban planters, who have all installed side tracks direct to their plantations, thus making it possible for them to secure goods from any part of the United States without the bother of having it disturbed in transportation.

Both the new and the old boats have a carrying capacity of thirty cars each, and as the average railroad freight car weighs in the neighborhood of thirty tons, it is estimated that with the freight aboard, the boats carry about three thousand tons.

When the idea of carrying cars direct to Cuba was first suggested by Mr. Parsons a few years ago, he said that people laughed at him, declaring that it was folly to think of navigating the gulf stream with such heavy loads but he had the faith in his idea that convinced others, and during the two years the boats have been running they have never met with an accident of any kind.

Recently the steamship company received an offer from the allies to buy both the Flagler and the Parrott, which they wanted to use in conveying troops, but the offer was declined, Mr. Parsons saying that the only country that could have his vessels for that purpose is the United States.

ELEVEN MILLION BELGIANS DEPENDENT ON AMERICA

New York, Jan. 21.—Eleven million persons in Belgium and northern France are dependent on the American commission for relief of Belgium, according to Herbert C. Hoover, chairman, who arrived here today from Liverpool. He said Belgium was preparing to ask for a hundred and fifty million dollars more for another year's work.

BIG

Guns Are Active Along All Borders of the European War.

BRITISH AND TURKS

Give Conflicting Claims as to Successes on the Tigris River.

Associated Press, Jan. 21.—Big guns are active along all battle fronts, states an official report.

In Mesopotamia the British and Turks are engaged in vigorous fighting along the Tigris river, in the vicinity of Kut-el-Amara.

London and Constantinople claim success. The British claim to have driven the Turks from a strip on the right bank of the Tigris. They also claim that they hold the entire trench section on a front of twenty-five hundred yards. The report adds that the right bank of the river has been cleared of Turks.

Constantinople denies the success of the British operations.

Hand to hand fighting took place in the streets of Nenesi, on the Sereth river. In withdrawing, the German batteries raked the Russians as they made their way across the bridges, inflicting heavy losses.

One officer and five hundred and fifty men were captured by the Germans. Routine activity is reported along the Austro-Italian front.

REMOVAL GREEK TROOPS BE COMPLETED THIS WEEK.

Athens, Jan. 21.—The removal of the Greek troops and war material to the Peloponnese continues, it is believed, will be completed next week when the blockade can be lifted.

The cabinet has discussed a better proposal to lease the Greek merchant marine.

It was decided to take measures to assure the retention of enough ships to import foodstuff to the Greek population.

The fact that Greek vessels depend upon Great Britain for coal and insurance, according to a high official, has already put the Greek ship owners in the hands of the entente.

DECORATIONS OF AUTO SHOW ARE PLANNED

No Pains to Be Spared to Make Everything Unusually Attractive.

THE OPENING EVENTS

And "Meet Me at Elser Pier" Is the Slogan For This Week.

It has taken a lot of hard work and some tall hustling to get everything in readiness for the big, free automobile show which will be formally opened on Elser's pier today at two o'clock, when all the decorations will be up and the cars set in their respective booths.

The automobile dealers who will have their cars on the pier, a list being published in yesterday's Herald, have been busy for weeks getting in touch with the manufacturers for advice as to the best way to make their booths appear the most attractive, and some surprises are promised when everything is finally fixed up for the grand opening.

None of the dealers would say anything when questioned as to what their plans for decorations are, nor would they pass out any hint as to the kind of souvenirs they intend giving away, but it is understood that they all have laid in a plentiful supply and that everyone who visits the show will be taken care of and none will go away empty handed.

It is safe to say however that the decorations will be especially attractive and that the souvenirs will be well worth having.

A. T. Wright, general manager of the pier, and Matthew Elser, the owner, both said yesterday that they would spare neither time or money in making the show the most successful automobile exhibit ever held in the south, and as they have inaugurated the idea for Miami, and propose to hold a show every year in the future, they realize that the success of all future shows depends on this year's exhibit. For decorative purposes they have

FLORIDA TO ESCAPE THIS COLD WAVE

OIL ON WATER QUIETS WAVES

But It Dirties People Who Bathe in It, So C. of C. Wants It Kept Off.

Casting oil on the waters may have a soothing effect on the waves, but it does not follow that the effect will be the same on human beings, particularly when the oil is washed close to the shore where the people are wanting baths.

The truth of this assertion was shown Saturday when complaints reached the Chamber of Commerce relative to a large quantity of heavy oil directly in front of the Smith and Hardie bathing resorts.

Investigation led to the belief that the oil was carelessly spilled overboard from one of the dredges at work on the ship channel in the bay, and was carried out by the tide, to come in later and spoil the fun of several hundred bathers.

A number of persons in the ocean at the two resorts had their suits and limbs smeared with the heavy oil, with which they came in contact and removed it with difficulty and only by the use of gasoline and vigorous scrubbing.

Secretary Livingston called the attention of officers of the dredging company to the condition at the beach and requested that care be taken to prevent a recurrence, pointing out that the city is spending thousands of dollars annually to advertise Miami and to make known the fact that it is possible to bathe 365 days of the year in the ocean here.

The beach, Mr. Livingston declared, is one of Miami's best assets, and every possible care should be taken of an attraction that has been the means of bringing to the city thousands of persons who would not otherwise have come, and of causing to remain for weeks longer than they originally intended other thousands who stopped casually with the intention of staying only a day or so.

The promise was given that the dredge boat captains will be instructed to use greater care in the future, so that a repetition of the occurrence may be avoided.

GREAT

Preparations Are Under Way for Big Dade County Fair.

TO BE HELD IN MIAMI

From February 26 to March 3, With Larger Exhibits Than Ever Before.

The twentieth annual exhibit of the Dade county fair which will be held in the fair building, on the bay front, during the week beginning Monday, February 26, and ending Saturday, March 3, will be a record-breaker in so far as this particular exhibit is concerned, and the indications are that it will be the largest exhibit of citrus fruits, vegetables and live stock that has ever been seen in Florida.

To see the wonderful possibilities of Dade county portrayed into one grand display, and at a time when the north is covered with snow and ice, is truly a most wonderful sight, and this fact has been commented upon by visitors from all points.

The fact that every inch of floor space will be occupied is assured and the fair management is now endeavoring to find additional room for the many attractive features that are to be shown.

Plenty of Room.

Two years ago when the stock exhibit was first mentioned the question of sufficient room seemed to be a perplexing one. A large area on the Royal Palm park was roped off for this purpose and in this was displayed an exhibit of Dade county's live stock, hogs, chickens, etc.

The second attempt at this was even more successful and additional room was provided. The feature was doubled and attracted even more attention from the fact that Dade county was little known as a cattle producing country.

This coming fair promises even many more attractions for the many who have already signified their intention of exhibiting, has assured the management of a larger show than ever before in the history of the fair and much more room will be necessary for the exhibitors.

Attractive Features.

One of the attractive features of the coming fair will be the woman's department which promises to excel that of any former year. Mrs. J. C. Baile who will have charge of this department, as usual, is already at work on her plans and has been assured of the co-operation of her many assistants who have, for so many years past, and a splendid display of fancy work and are will be made.

The fact that all of these were made right here in Dade county fully demonstrates the possibilities that are in store for the people of this section.

That thousands of cans of the finest jellies are made of the native fruits each year is also a fitting testimonial of the possibilities and no better place could be found to exhibit these than at this fair where thousands of tourists may see them.

Testimonials were received last year from hundreds of visitors who were surprised at the results that were demonstrated at the fair and these have proved invaluable to this section.

Fancy Articles.

Included among the many valuable exhibits this year will be that of the Hand Craft Association, of Coccanut Grove. This will be under the supervision of Mrs. Kirk Munroe who will also show her personal collection of several hundred pieces of fancy articles made from the different things raised in the immediate vicinity of her home. This proved one of the most attractive features of the last fair and was instrumental in creating an interest in that kind of work among the young women of the state.

Another wonderful demonstration will be that of the public school children, whose skill at canning and preserving was wonderfully portrayed. This year's exhibit will be larger than ever and sufficient room will be given it by the fair association.

merchantmen was cabled by Ambassador Gerard last evening.

German official circles profess to regard the case as offering an opportunity for negotiations looking to the settlement between Germany and America of the status of armed merchantmen.

The bringing of the Yarrowdale into a German port as a prize with a crew and prisoners of war, brings the question to a head.

Optimism over the amicable settlement was expressed since the men in question are safe.

Germany contends that a ship which mounts guns, whether for defense or offense loses the status of private commercial craft and becomes a warship, and sailors taking service aboard lose their neutral status.

AFTER SICKNESS

How to Recover Strength.

So many Miami people are asking how to recover their strength after sickness that we are publishing this information for their benefit.

After grippe, pleurisy, pneumonia or any illness what you need is new strength and richer blood.

The most certain way to get this is by taking Vinol which contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron, manganese, phosphates, and glycerophosphates. It creates strength, improves the blood, sharpens the appetite and restores the entire system to a healthy robust condition.

North Adams, Mass.—"After a long illness of pneumonia I was left in a weakened, delicate condition, and for a long time had searched for a body-builder and strength creator. I was attracted by an advertisement of Vinol, and tried a bottle, and soon noticed a vast improvement. I continued its use for a while, and am now as able bodied and strong as any man in town." Samuel Wood, North Adams, Mass.

Try a bottle of Vinol. Your money will be returned if it does not restore your vitality and strength.

MANY YACHTS COMING SOUTH WITH PARTIES

The Alcyon on Way From New York With Henry W. Putnam, Jr.

BARON KLUGE LEAVES

And Will Return in Few Days—Samuel Untermyer Delayed in Hospital.

By W. S. Thomas.

Henry W. Putnam, Jr., of New York, is on his way south on board the yacht Alcyon, which put in at Jacksonville a few days ago and is expected to proceed south, toward Miami, this week. The yacht was joined at Jacksonville by Mr. Putnam who arrived from New York by rail. The yacht was brought down by Captain David Keer, who is familiar with the waters off the coast of Florida and Cuba, which will be the objective point of Mr. Putnam for the coming two months at least.

The Alcyon is described as being 182 feet over all, with a thirty-foot beam, and draws fifteen feet of water. The vessel is equipped with triple expansion engines and is regarded as one of the finest yachts in the fleet of the New York Yacht club.

The many friends in Miami and Palm Beach of Samuel Untermyer, the well known New York lawyer, will be pained to learn that he has gone to the John Hopkins hospital at Baltimore for a consultation with physicians, and it is sincerely hoped that his ailment will not hinder him from visiting Florida this season.

Mr. Untermyer purchased the houseboat Nirodha, which was formerly the property of John H. Hanan, and intends to spend a month or so cruising along the coast between Palm Beach and Miami. The Nirodha has already arrived in St. Augustine and is expected to reach Palm Beach very shortly. She will be joined by Mr. Untermyer at Palm Beach and that gentleman and his family will come to Biscayne bay for a visit of some duration.

While cruising on the bay last season Mr. Untermyer became so well pleased with Miami that he stated that he would come here quite frequently during the winter seasons, notwithstanding the fact that he was then having a fine winter home built on Lake Worth.

Baron E. H. Kluge of New York, who is cruising in nearby waters on board his yacht Joyeuse, has gone to Cuba where several days will be spent before returning to Miami.

The Joyeuse sailed out of Miami about ten days ago for a ten days' fishing cruise among the Florida keys. At the expiration of that time, Mr. Kluge decided to go direct to Cuba for an indefinite visit. He accordingly sent the yacht Dorothy, which he had chartered for the fishing trip, back to Miami and informed Captain Deany that he would go on to Cuba and return to Miami in a week or two.

At the annual election of officers of the Gilbert's Bar Yacht club, which was held at the club house recently, H. E. Sewell was elected commodore; A. L. Andrews, vice commodore; Jerome Twitchell, flag officer, and F. W. Willis, secretary and treasurer. Martin Maloney of Philadelphia and Professor Renuet of Baltimore were elected to membership in the organization.

The cruising power yacht Keewaydin, which belongs to C. Miner Dodson of Bethlehem, Pa., has arrived at Palm Beach and is expected to reach Miami shortly. On board the yacht are Mr. and Mrs. Dodson and family, who are enjoying a cruise in southern waters. The Keewaydin flies the pennant of the Corinthian Yacht club.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Potter and family of Brielle, N. J., arrived in Miami yesterday on board their yacht Boreas, and will spend the season here. The party was here last winter and so enjoyed themselves that they decided to return to Miami. Captain F. J. Potter, a son of the owner, is commander of the yacht.

The houseboat Silouam, which belongs to W. C. Witherbee of Port Henry, N. Y., will spend some time on Biscayne bay and among the keys, where Mr. Witherbee expects to find some good fishing.

E. J. Mickle of Philadelphia, who spent last season cruising on the bay and adjacent waters, will reach here shortly for another few weeks' visit on board his yacht Abeona.

The yacht Lounge, which belongs to H. W. Allen, is on the way to Miami from Daytona, with Mr. and

MOORE HAVEN DELIGHT OF THE TOURIST

Crowds Visiting There Every Day, and Amazed at the Remarkable Growth.

Every day finds a crowd of visitors at Moore Haven from different sections of the country, and it is remarkable the number of them that sign up a contract for some land or a lot before they leave.

Last Tuesday there were nine automobiles there from Arcadia, and already the trip by automobile from the west coast is becoming very popular.

An increasing number are going from Miami to Fort Lauderdale and thence by boat to Moore Haven and across to the west coast, and north from there.

This is but the beginning of a much more extensive amount of travel that is bound to take place as time goes on, for the Palm Beach hard surface road is being built, and when the Tamiami Trail is finished there will be possible a trip from Miami to Fort Myers, on the west coast, and from there across to Moore Haven, and on to Palm Beach, and from Palm Beach south again to Miami, making in all a most interesting and wonderful trip.

The development that is now going on at Moore Haven will by then have reached proportions that will be the surprise of those who will take that trip for the first time. To those who are going there now, Moore Haven is truly a wonder city, and what will be to those who wait till the automobile roads are complete from the east coast, and Moore Haven has grown still more.

They have been spending several days at Daytona, where they have many friends. The Lounge will cruise among the keys while not lying in the bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Byers, who have been coming to Florida for almost fifteen years, are on their way to Miami on board their forty-three-foot houseboat Dorothy. Elaborate Dinner Parties And Cabaret Supper Dance In the Royal Palm Grill

While the cabaret supper dance at the Royal Palm grill on Saturday night may have not been as large an affair as the previous one held at the opening tonight a week ago in point of numbers, yet it appeared to be more thoroughly enjoyed and there were a greater number of individual parties, lasting throughout the evening, the numerous tables being constantly taken up by newcomers as quickly as they were vacated.

Especially enjoyable to the many who were unable to secure tables in the grill was the concert in the lobby of the hotel, which preceded the cabaret, by the hotel orchestra under the direction of Gaetano Merzante, and the exquisite and poetical dancing of Monsieur and Madame Roberto, of New York and Paris, who perform every Wednesday and Saturday nights on the ballroom floor.

It was the unanimous opinion of all who witnessed the grace and beauty of motion of Monsieur Roberto and his wife that they excel any other dancers who have been brought to Miami, and their artistic interpretation of the valse caprice and the London taps called forth stupendous applause.

After the dancing in the lobby, the orchestra retiring at ten thirty, there was a general trend toward the grill, and it was soon filled by a happy, laughing throng who were entertained by a colored orchestra, with singing and funny antics by one of their number.

Then of course there was more dancing on the heavy brick tile floor of the grill which appears to have gained in favor with many who prefer to do their terpsichorean work there to any other place.

The largest dinner of the evening, and perhaps the most fashionable, was given by Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Sewell of Miami as a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Thompson of Baltimore. The table occupied almost the whole of the western end of the room and presented a delicately beautiful appearance with its decorations of black and pink tulle, with black and white candles in pink tulle decorated candelabra and a large mirror in the center surrounded with pink roses, which were also spread at different points on the white covered board.

Favors were fans for the ladies and place cards.

Those who enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. Sewell's hospitality were: Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Reilly, Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Hanan, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Gilman, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Romfh, Mr. Robert Zoll, Miss Esther Kelly, Judge and Mrs. J. C. Gramling, Mr. F. J. Mackey, Mrs. Walter E. Flanders, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn H. Gilman, Mr. and Mrs. Huston Wyeth, Mr. Jacob Clark, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Tatum, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Reid, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Jackson and others.

Mrs. Kilgour Miller had a dinner party which started early in the evening and lasted throughout the cabaret. Those who were noticed were: Mrs. Kilgour Miller, Mr. R. M. Bullen, Miss Mary K. Miller, Mr. Harold Atkinson, Mr. Henry Stewart, Miss Wilson, Mr. E. May, Miss Anderson, Mr. Hearne.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Crosland entertained Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hickson and Mrs. Clarke Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Weber.

At another table were Miss Pauline Whitman, Miss Vinia Beebe, Miss Carolyn Leach, Miss Violet Bradley, Miss Marion Kondoff, Mr. Clement Brossier, Mr. Frank Galey, Mr. Harry Leach, Mr. Ewing Watkins. The party were the guests of Mr. Roy C. Wright and Mr. Walter S. Morrow.

PRESBYTERIAN CHOR SUNDAY EVENING CONCERT

With Mrs. Lawrence Canfield at the organ and Mr. Louis D. Gales directing, the choir of the Presbyterian church gave a most enjoyable musicale last night. There was not a vacant seat in the building and many were standing when the vested choir entered the gallery.

Mrs. Canfield's prelude was Will C. McFarlane's "Evening Bells and Cradle Song," and it was rendered with great beauty and expression.

"Savior Breathe an Evening Blessing" was sung softly, followed by a hymn and prayer.

Mrs. Russell Putnam and Mr. Sharran sang the solo parts in Shelly's anthem, "The Spirit of Our Hearts." Both were in excellent voice and the ensemble work by the choir was well rendered.

"O God Have Mercy (St. Paul), one of the most popular baritone solos from the oratorio, was sung with fine expression by Mr. Sharran.

A beautiful rendition of an old gospel hymn was given by the male quartette—"Let the Lower Lights be Burning." The quartette was composed of Messrs. Gates, Brown, Sharran and Brown. The song is one of special appeal by reason of its melody and the harmonies were well brought out while every word was distinctly understood—always an additional charm in gospel singing.

Two of the most attractive numbers of the program were from the Holy City—"List the Cherubic Host" and "I Heard the Voice of Harpers." Mrs. Bolles, Mr. Sharran and the Ladies choir rendered these with artistic beauty which owed much of its effectiveness to the fine organ support by Mrs. Canfield.

Dr. Faris prefaced his announcements by one of his always welcome talks which are as much a part of these musical evenings as the music is. Dr. Faris announced often that he is not an accomplished musician but he is certainly his choir's most delightful critic. He is never at a loss for words of appreciation and encouragement. Among the remarks upon this occasion was the statement that in all his experience he did not recall another instance where an accomplished choir master absolutely gave his services, and made himself responsible for the splendid singers of the choir with no appropriation for music—the only source of the choir fund being the offering at these monthly musicales.

During the offering Mrs. Canfield played Nevine's elusive and fascinating "Will O' The Wisp," a wonderfully dainty selection.

The entire choir rendered the next anthem—"Magnificat," (Calkins,) in splendid style. The frequent melodic changes in this composition make it difficult of rendition except by well trained voices.

"Adore and Be Still," Gounod's always popular song, was given with artistic effect by Mrs. Bolles, followed by the choir's closing number—Mendelssohn's motet—"Hear Our Prayer" with Mrs. Wallace singing the soprano solo. It was a delightful close to a greatly enjoyed program.

After silent prayer and the benediction the dismissal sentence was sung and as the audience dispersed Mrs. Canfield played as a postlude Gounod's "Grand Processional March from 'Queen of Sheba.'"

Many tarried to offer congratulations to Mr. Gates, Mrs. Canfield and the choir members.

We would like to see the Florida boys back on the border; but we do not take much stock in the idea many seem to entertain that they are martyrs and objects for general pity. They are having no picnic, it is true; but the military experience they are receiving will be advantageous to them in many ways. Many a youth who entered the service as a pretty sorry superfluity on the body social, will come back a man, fitted to do a man's work. The discipline, the training, the exercise, even the hardships of military life, will be productive of a physical and mental development that will have a strong reflex action on the moral character. Let us not worry over-much about our soldier boys on the border. They are being made into splendid men.

QUARTERS FOR THAT BELGIAN SMOKER FUND

Herald List Growing Steadily and Sixty-nine Soldiers Are Provided For.

Only a quarter a throw! "I am a smoker and I have been a soldier and I want a dollar's worth of that tobacco for the Belgians," said a subscriber to the Belgian fund to give Belgian soldiers several good comfortable smokes yesterday, as he handed over a clean, new one dollar bill.

That's the spirit, and it's only a quarter a throw, although there is nothing in the law or the gospel preventing any other good fellow making his contribution more than one single throw—he may make it as many as he wants, at a quarter a throw.

Yesterday eighteen good fellows contributed $5.25 to the fund, thus insuring that twenty-one more soldiers get their packages of tobacco and cigarettes.

The fund now totals $17.75 and from that sixty-nine Belgians will enjoy many smokes and many pleasant minutes.

The Herald hopes that the fund will grow until we can at least send enough money to supply one entire company of soldiers with a small amount of comfort.

Each quarter of a dollar contributed will provide one Belgian soldier with fifty good cigarettes and a package of smoking tobacco, and the contributor will receive, if possible, from the very man who enjoys the smokes, an acknowledgement of the gift.

Come on in, it's only a quarter a throw! Yesterday's contributions were as follows:

ADVERTISE IN THE HERALD

ELOQUENT TALK COLORED FOLKS

Given by Mary T. Talbert at the Bethel A. M. E. Church to Large Audience.

Mary T. Talbert, the president of the National Association of Colored Women's clubs, spoke yesterday to a large and interested audience, both at the Bethel A. M. E. and at the Mount Zion Baptist churches, in colored town.

An interesting program was rendered at the former church, consisting mostly of addresses of welcome from the several civic and fraternal organizations; and at the latter place, the pastor, Rev. J. T. Brown, called on Dr. A. P. Holly to formally introduce their distinguished visitor.

Being a graduate of Oberlin college, and having been identified in this work for more than twenty years, during part of which she was chairman of the executive board and vice president of the executive board and president at large, besides having been the president of the New York State Federation of Colored Women's clubs, she was well qualified to speak with authority to her audiences.

Speaker's Theme

She succeeds the wife of the late Booker T. Washington as president of the National Association.

The speaker took as the theme of her message to her people the motto of their club organizations: "Lift as we climb."

She pointed out that the negro race could be divided into three classes—the upper, middle and lower; and that it was the duty of those of the upper to lend a helping hand to those of the middle class and those in their turn to the people of the lowest, in their efforts at race uplift.

"The negro of the lower class is a menace to his own race. He is responsible for the enactment of 'Jim Crowism.' He is similar to a dead corpse in a reservoir, and as such is a menace to civilization."

"The lower class negro is killing the goodwill which otherwise would be shown to self respecting members of his race. Until we raise the men and women of our race, said the speaker, to the highest planes of civilization, we must expect to be killed by the socially dead negro."

Continuing her fearless criticisms of the shortcomings of that class of her people, the lecturer then asked the women of her audience what were they doing to better such undesirable conditions. She laid particular emphasis on the absolute necessity for the colored women of the better class to engage in social and rescue work.

Audience Thrilled

She thrilled her audience by the recital of the painful experiences she

WILL PRAISE IT 'TILL SHE DIES

Mrs. Flanigan Would Be Covered With Cold Sweats and Have to Gasp for Breath—

"I'll praise Tanlac the longest day I live, and so will my daughter, Elsie, for it's simply wonderful the way she medicine has helped us," said Mrs. M. J. Flanigan, 104 Claiborne street, Nashville, Tenn., whose husband is a well-known employee at the T. C. R. R. shops.

"I suffered so much with cold chills and smothering spells that it's a wonder I'm here today to tell the tale," continued Mrs. Flanigan, "and it hadn't been for Tanlac I don't know that I would. I was three years ago that I had the first one, and I have had them off and on ever since. My heart would thump like a trip hammer and then act like it was going to stop beating; and after that would wear off I'd get so nervous I could hardly lie still, and sometimes I would turn right blind."

"At other times I would be covered with cold sweat and would have to be covered up for hours before I could get warm, and then I would get so hot they would have to raise me up in bed and fan me to keep me from smothering."

"I would have lumps come in my stomach that felt just like a rock, and no matter how much I ate or how much medicine I took, I couldn't keep these spells off, and nobody will ever know how I suffered with them."

"While I was taking the very first bottle of Tanlac that knot failed to appear after I'd eat, and I kept right on till I had taken three bottles, and you never saw anybody in my life pick up and begin to eat like I did. I got so nothing disagreed with me, and the chills, hot spells and blindness have never come back."

"That was three months ago, and I've just kept on getting stronger and stronger and I know I weigh at least twenty pounds more than I did. Before I took it I could hardly lift a broom, let alone do any real work, but now I can do everything about the house, and you just ought to see me getting weeds out of my garden."

"My daughter, Elsie, was all run down and had no appetite when she began to take Tanlac, but now she's cashier at a picture show and is able to work ten hours a day. It's built her right up, and she thinks it's the finest medicine in the world."

Mrs. Pate, a neighbor, came in while Mrs. Flanigan was making her remarkable statement, and said: "Really, I have never seen anyone build up as fast as Mrs. Flanigan has since she began taking Tanlac. It's simply wonderful."

Tanlac is sold in Miami exclusively by Miami Drug Co.; in Ft. Lauderdale by Beck's Home Drug Store; in Homestead by Homestead Pharmacy; in Gouds by W. H. Culey, in Princeton by Drake Lumber Co.; and in Silver Palm, R. F. D. Princeton, by Wm. Anderson.

underwent when in Jacksonville, when seventeen juvenile colored youths, ranging from eleven years old and upwards, had been sentenced to serve out sentences at the penal reformatory at Marianna, Fla.

"If the white race, with its centuries of civilization, sees the imperative necessity of mother's clubs, how much more does the negro race need such, so as to make better boys—which would mean better girls and women."

"My mission to the women of my race in Florida is to urge them to extend a more sympathetic hand to the submerged millions of my people."

"My mission to you is to organize and to send a representative colored woman from every hamlet, village, town or city in Florida, as part of a joint delegation to Tallahassee, so as to urge on your congressmen and senators the necessity of a reformatory for colored juvenile offenders."

She informed the audience that some white philanthropist had donated eight acres of land in Jacksonville for such a purpose, and that her mission was to urge on the women of her race to secure the influence and authority of the state legislature for the appropriation of ten thousand dollars for the erection of suitable buildings on that property, where at least 200 juvenile colored misdemeanants might be trained to better civilization than is possible under the conditions existing at the present penal reform school at Marianna.

In concluding the speaker paid an eloquent tribute to the southern aristocracy, who, she said, was undoubtedly the best friend the negro had. If only our men and women strive to make good, this southern aristocracy will stand by them and extend a helping hand.

The National Association of Colored Women's clubs has a membership of 50,000 and no fewer than three thousand federated clubs, in twenty-nine states of the union.

Something About the FIJI ISLANDS

A Short Sketch of the Land and People of This Picturesque Group of Islands.

Copyright, 1917, by The International Syndicate.

THE average person thinks only of cannibalism when the Fijis are mentioned, for this terrible mania so common years ago among the Fiji people has been exploited in history to such an extent that it has completely overshadowed any good qualities that the natives might possess. But the cannibal days of the Fijis are over, and today they are living the simple life of the average South Sea Islands—and under the British flag.

Early History.

The Islands first came into history about the middle of the seventeenth century, when the celebrated Dutch navigator Tasman, published the log of the adventures of his ship, "Heemskirk." Tasman merely sailed around the islands, and it was a century or more later before the white man set foot upon them. The famous Captain Cook, who lost his life in the Hawaiian Islands, also saw the land now known as the Fijis, and learned something of the native commerce between the islands. In 1796 Captain Wilson, sailing on the "Duff," narrowly escaped shipwreck on the Fiji reefs and brought back only slight information concerning them. In 1827 the French ship "Astrolabe" was sent to the South Seas on an exploring cruise and after seventeen days among the natives some accurate information was obtained. The United States next took a hand in getting into their secrets, for in 1835 Commodore Wilkes was sent to chart the waters thereabouts.

Three years before this, however, a few Wesleyan missionaries had arrived on the islands, and were trying to Christianize the savages. Cannibalism in its worst forms prevailed and many of these good people suffered martyrdom through the most fiendish devices which savagery could inflict, but others came to take their place and the white man finally began to gain ground.

How Great Britain Came Into Possession.

The islands were ruled at that time by King Thakombau, who was a monster of cruelty, and one who lived entirely upon human flesh. In 1855, however, there came a check to his cruelty when the United States Government became incensed over the brutal murder of a number of shipwrecked sailors and demanded a large compensation, which the King was unable to pay. In order to get rid of the debt, he offered the islands to Great Britain, but the offer was refused as England did not think the islands worth the indemnity, and they went begging for more than sixteen years longer. During our Civil War an Englishman discovered that cotton thrived there, and soon immigration started from Australia, but as there was still danger the project did not succeed. Then the chiefs of the islands began to make war upon each other, and Thakombau found himself hard pressed by Maafa, a powerful chief of a nearby island, and after two years of fighting the old chief found that it was a question of giving up to his rival or offering the islands to Great Britain once more. This time his offer was accepted and since 1874 it has been a Crown colony. The old king was retired upon a good salary and forced to change his diet as the new Governor made it plain that England would no longer tolerate cannibalism and it gradually died out. Later the old king became a Christian, in name at least, and died in 1883. Many of the old cannibal drums and drums are preserved in the library at Suva, while others were sent to the British Museum in London.

The British at once began to cultivate the land, which they found unusually fertile. They brought coolies from India to work on the plantations and gradually the native has been pushed back to make room for the energetic English settler, and so, like the Hawaiian, the Fijian is passing and his land is being peopled by the men of other lands.

Origin A Mystery.

The origin of the Fijian race is shrouded in mystery, for they in common with the Polynesians have no literature and even the legends handed down from father to son contain no hint of their origin. The Fijians themselves believe that they have always lived upon the islands and in the language of a converted native "All are said to have been born of one pair of first parents. The Fijian was born first, but acted wickedly, and was black; he, therefore, received but little clothing. The Tongan (another race inhabiting the islands) was next born. He acted less wickedly, was whiter and had more clothes given him. White men came last. They acted well, were white and had plenty of clothes." From the natives appearance it would seem that they are a link between the two distinct types of people—the Eastern and the Western Polynesians, and it would seem certain that the original stock of the Fiji people contained both African and Asiatic blood.

The natives are strong, well built people with a keenness of sight, a sensitiveness of touch and smell, and a power of hearing which is little short of marvelous. Their power of endurance is not great and while they could hardly be called lazy they are spasmodic workers and labor best when in a crowd of workmen. They are resourceful in many ways and will make rope for tying baggage from bamboo by cutting it with the sharp edge of a shell. They will make a rain-proof covering of banana leaves and twigs in a few minutes. They are proud of their birth and vain as to their personal appearance. They invariably carry a nail mirror in their pockets and frequently stop to comb their hair and admire themselves before it. Those natives who have taken to European clothes are exceedingly foppish. They are polite to their superiors and not over-truthful in their statements.

They love feasting and the dance above all things, and on every occasion there is a feast. Few have learned to use the dishes of the civilized races, and today when one sits at a Fijian feast he will find food cooked in crude earthenware in an oven formed of hot stones. Mussel shells serve as soup spoons, fingers take the place of knives and forks, while the drink is served in coconut shells. Roast pig is the favorite meat although the large turtles so numerous about the islands are also frequently found on their menus. Yams, which grow in abundance, as well as bread fruit, are also favorite dishes. Their old drink is little used on account of its effect. It is known as "yagona" and made from the root of a plant and has a peculiar narcotic effect. The root is pounded at present, although in the old days it was chewed and spat in a bowl. The English physicians put a stop to this filthy practice and it is now pounded in the bowl and mixed with water. The solid matter is extracted by a fibre brush and a muddy looking liquid remains. This is drunk from coconut shells and the shells are then spun back to the bowl to be refilled. Drank in moderation the beverage has no ill effects but when taken in large quantities it produces inflammation of the eyes, a numbness of the limbs and a scalliness of the skin.

Their dance is known as the "meke" and is danced to a song. At present it is a tame affair as war clubs are not used, and only a limited amount of the native drink may be obtained, so there is no "encouragement" by which the dancers can work themselves into a frenzy. Some of the movements are not unlike those of the Maori dancers. A native band furnishes the music by using strange tom-toms made of hollow bamboo.

House and Canoe Builder.

As a house builder the Fijian has no equal in the Pacific. The structures are picturesque, strong and well built. The timbers are shaped with adzes and tied in place with cords of sinnet. Rushes and sugar cane leaves form the thatched roof and are fastened to the rafters with scraped reeds. Their canoe building, too, was remarkable on account of the English motor boats, which have been brought to the islands it is becoming a lost art.

The language of the islands at present is English although in the interior the natives still use their native tongue—a Polynesian dialect with a limited vocabulary. The old religion of the Fijis was fetichistic and in some cases totemistic, a fact shown by the hideous idols or totems which were set up in the forests before the coming of the white man.

Geography And Climate.

Two hundred and thirty islands go to make up the group known as the Fijis and they spread themselves over one hundred and twenty thousand square miles of sea which in some places between the islands runs in a dangerous current. Some of the smaller islands are comparatively recent as geologists measure time, which proves them to be of volcanic origin. The approach by steamer is both exciting and beautiful for the mainlands are indented with numerous bays.

Suva is the principal town and bears the stamp of great Britain at every angle, but although this is a pleasant place to linger it is not Fiji, for the real Fiji is in the forest and up the wonderful rivers with their queer fish and strange birds.

The climate is, of course, tropical, but comparatively cool considering its proximity to the Equator. Mountain hotels make life enjoyable even in the hot season. During the entire year the thermometer rarely sinks below sixty degrees or gets above ninety degrees.

Beautiful Scenery.

The flora of the country is one great mass of richness, especially in palms and creeping plants, which fairly choke the pathway of the traveler. Some excellent wood is also found there. These forests are like some land of enchantment and the traveler who has time should get into one of the big canoes and let the natives carry him through this fairyland of natural beauty. The beds of many of these rivers are of coral and so clear is the water that fishes of all kinds may be seen cavorting about the water and scurrying away at the approach of the boat.

NO ESTIMATE OF TOURISTS
IS POSSIBLE

Certain, However, That the Banner Visiting List Is Now in Miami.

"How many tourists are there in Miami?" was the question asked yesterday to scores of persons engaged in various lines of business.

The answers show the utter impossibility of forming an estimate. Formerly when there were only two or three hotels and half a score of private residences renting rooms, it was easily possible to make a canvass of the town in a few hours and ascertain with a reasonable degree of accuracy the number of visitors within the city limits.

Now, however, with scores of hotels crowded and many hundreds of private homes providing shelter for the visitors, who have found lodging even in the outskirts of the city and in the towns nearby, from Florida City to Fort Lauderdale, it is an utter impossibility to do more than venture the vaguest guess.

Moreover, in the days of the city's infancy there was only one way by which the tourists could reach Miami, and that was by rail. Now thousands are coming down the Dixie Highway in their touring cars, hundreds take the water route in their yachts or come on the Miami Steamship company's vessel, and others arrive by train.

But while unable to do more than make a wild guess as to the number of winter visitors, one who frequents the places where tourists gather and studies the faces of the people he sees, becomes convinced in a very short time that their numbers are far greater than during any previous winter.

This belief is of course strengthened by the fact that every year sees the erection of many additional homes, apartment houses and hotels, in all of which the tourist is housed.

Of course since there are so many more places for the strangers to go for entertainments—the three beach resorts, the motor drives, the boat trips, Elser's pier, the Royal Palm dock and other places of interest—it is impossible to see 10 per cent of them at any one time.

MISS MARGUERITE CLARK
HERE IN "SNOW WHITE"
AT PARAMOUNT THEATER

One of the most charming pictures that has ever been seen at the Paramount theatre will appear there today when Marguerite Clark stars in the Famous Players adaptation of the beloved fairy tale, "Snow White," which is the Paramount attraction for the week. "Snow White" was directed by J. Searle Dawley, who has presided over all of Miss Clark's most recent successes.

It will be remembered that Miss Clark starred in the stage adaptation of the Grimm Brothers' tale, under the personal direction of Winthrop Ames, at the Little theatre, where the delightful play remained for two seasons. Mr. Ames very kindly placed himself at the disposal of the Famous Players in so far as his experience with the stage production was concerned, and loaned the producers all the costumes which were used in the stage presentation of the story.

Realizing how important the seven little dwarfs would be in the picture, Director Dawley spent a great deal of time in obtaining the services of seven real midgets. The adaptation of a fairy story for the screen affords the producer an excellent opportunity to employ the art of photography in depicting phenomena which can be reproduced on the screen with the greatest possible effect. In this respect the photoplay version of "Snow White" will undoubtedly approach more closely the fascination of the original Grimm story than did the stage play, which was necessarily limited in its magic effects.

Among those who appear in support of Miss Clark in "Snow White" are Creighton Hale, Dorothy G. Cumming, Lionel Braham and Alice Washburn.

CHAS. S. BATES AGAIN
ON MIAMI HERALD
ADVERTISING STAFF

For a handsome consideration, which entitles him to rank among the leading advertising men in the country, Chas. S. Bates, former advertising manager of The Herald, today resumes entire charge of the advertising department of this paper. For the past five years Mr. Bates held this position, but recently resigned, much to the regret of everyone connected with the paper, and as well as hundreds of Herald advertisers.

Believing Mr. Bates might be prevailed upon to again resume active work on The Herald, if the proper inducements were held out, the management offered him considerations far in excess of those usually made on a paper in a city the size of Miami, but which Mr. Bates, ability amply justifies, and is today congratulating itself, and receiving the congratulations of its advertisers, on again securing the services of Mr. Bates, who is a veteran newspaper man, familiar with all phases of the newspaper work, from A to Z, and who has at various times been connected with larger metropolitan papers, among them being the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and the Chattanooga Times.

Mr. Bates is one of the most popular advertising men ever in Miami, as well as the most successful. He is an especially efficient copy-writer, having a prolific style, tempered by a clear judgment and a keen sense of values, which give his advertisements a straight-from-the-shoulder and pulling power, which has been a strong factor in producing universally successful results for Herald advertisers, who, with few exceptions, depend upon him for council and advice in their advertising problems.

The high class advertisements carried by The Herald, a large number of which are prepared and written by Mr. Bates, have from time to time attracted the attention of famous journalists and editors, who have visited this city, and it is a common thing for his advertisements to be used in their entirety by other wide-awake advertising men on The Herald exchange lists. His unusual ability, combined with his long experience, fit him particularly well to render advertising service on a plane with the up-to-date, advanced principles on which Miami's merchants and business houses conduct their establishments.

MIAMI AGENTS

FLORIDA AS WINTER RESORT EXPLOITED IN PHILADELPHIA NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW

While Other Sections of the Country Are Freezing, Miami Is Enjoying Real Summer Weather—How the State Is Learning the Practical Value of Advertising.

Three reasons are given in a special story pertaining to the opening of the Florida resort season of 1917, published in the annual resort number of the Philadelphia North American January 7th, for the early arrival of tourists in the various resort towns and the fact that the state was filled on January 1st beyond the usual limit of a month later.

The first of these three reasons is that Florida has at last learned to advertise. Much of this advertising is being paid for but vastly more comes to the state and its cities, particularly to Miami, the greatest resort town of them all and a city of homes, in the same manner that the North American's story was published—as news, palpitating with interest for people in the frigid north, at a time when Miami is enabled to reveal in the out-of-doors life.

The story in the North American was given a preferred position and was illustrated with three cuts, one of the Hotel Royal Poinciana and Hotel Breakers at Palm Beach, another of the Hotel Ponce de Leon at St. Augustine, and the third of Miami Beach, showing a crowd of winter bathers sporting in the surf. A full page was devoted to the story and the cuts accompanying it, while the best that any other state or foreign country obtained was two columns on an inside page.

This story was written for the North American by William Stuart Hill of the Miami Herald's staff. It follows:

Miami, Fla., Jan. 6.—Florida has come into her own this winter—Florida, the land of sunshine, of flowers, and of neglected opportunities—the state is filled to overflowing with thousands of tourists, although the season's opening came only a few days ago.

Early in December the visitors began arriving—a full month before the usual influx—and the tide continued stronger, until now. Nearly every resort town has almost as many visitors as at the height of the best previous season, notwithstanding that the crest of the tourist movement does not usually come until March.

The reason for this condition is threefold—first and probably foremost, is that Florida has at last learned that it pays to advertise. And the wonder of it is that nobody thought of this before, since the state has so much to advertise—a climate unsurpassed in all the world, fishing second to no other locality, scenery that allures with the spell of the orient, and roads—but here we come to the second reason.

Good Roads Bring Money.
A few years ago Florida had almost no real roads. Today her roads are the boast of some localities, while other sections of the state are awakening to their value as tangible assets—channels thru which constant streams of "new money" flow to enrich the resident. On every side roads are being built, hard surfaced and smooth as a floor, urging the motorist to explore new scenes and to visit new lands.

Twelve million dollars were voted within eighteen months by several counties that heard the call. Much of this sum has been expended, but more remains. Many excellent highways have already been built, notably the Florida division of the Dixie highway down the east coast and a part of that road known as the western loop of the Dixie highway.

All over the state these newly constructed roads are smooth, hard and inviting, but down in Dade county they reach their greatest perfection. Four hundred miles of rock roads, many of them having asphaltic surfaces, radiate from Miami, the county seat and pioneer in the good roads' movement in Florida. Tourists declare these highways are unsurpassed.

So much for the second reason. The European war, no doubt, has had its effect on the tourist travel to Florida, since it has stopped the migration of wealthy Americans to foreign shores, and they visit California or Florida instead.—The third reason.

But, after all, the first reason has had the greatest pulling power, although much of the credit must be given to the second, which is so closely merged into the first, as the advertising had by the state, deliberately or as an indirect result of the building of these good roads and the state's wonderful development, is what strangers in Florida are talking about—the climate.

Sing Pears on Climate.
Anywhere in the state a native will back the visitor against a wall, buttonhole him and talk climate by the hour. But down at Palm Beach or Miami they forget time, place and circumstance and work the "wonderful climate" overtime.

At St. Petersburg the people are almost as much concentrated on climate as in the other two resort towns, but they sing the praises of their sunshine even louder and longer than they do the climate, and even call their town "the Sunshine City."

It is related of an old negro mammy at one of the towns some distance from the beaten path of tourist travel, and a few miles away from the nearest railway, that she exclaimed in amazement when she saw a scutle of coal:

"Fo' de lan's sake, Miss Ma'y Ann! What am dat?"
"Black diamonds, Sue," was the reply.

"Diamonds! No wondah dem Smifs got dey nose stuck up in the aiah if dey got a whole bucket ob diamonds," Sue said.

And that occurred before the high cost of living affected the coal market.

It is the knowledge that Florida's climate is genial in summer, autumn, winter and spring that is responsible for the early arrival of winter visitors this season. They are learning this fact more and more each year. It is the general belief in the north that the state is fit only for insects and reptiles in midsummer, but this belief is being dispelled because the reverse is true.

The thermometer rarely registers more than 90 degrees in the shade at Miami or Key West, which are erroneously believed by some to be close to Hades. In fact, both of these cities boast cooler summer temperatures than towns in states very much further north.

The writer can vouch for the truth of the assertion that when the mercury in Chicago went up to 103 in the shade last summer, and 185 persons died of heat prostration, Miami's maximum temperature was 83. Chicago's minimum was 83 on the same day. There is no authentic instance of heat prostration of man or beast in any of the coast counties of the state.

But it is not climate alone that draws thousands to Florida annually, nor is it the splendid highways, nor yet the fishing, it is as much the glorious out-door-life, the chance to plunge into the surf in midwinter without a shiver, to stroll over the golf course in shirt sleeves in February, or to play tennis, to hunt or motor or sail over the lakes and bays without thought of weather, except to thank the gracious Being who created such a paradise for sinful man.

Whether the visitor is up to his ears in old ocean, filled with the knowledge that salt water, sunshine, fresh air and exercise will remake him, or is merely lolling on the beach, watching the dainty and manly forms of bathers, he feels glad he is alive—and in Florida, where the prodigal hand of nature has heaped so many blessings and the visitor has only to enjoy them.

Beach Resorts Without Peer.
Far above the call of the wild, or the note from the highway, golf course, fruit orchard, tennis court or fishing bank, sounds the lure of the surf—for in ocean's briny depths the uninitiated may plunge and find as much enjoyment as the most accomplished swimmer, and women and children may revel for hours with no ill effects. Florida's beach resorts stand alone—without a peer. The warm waters of the Gulf stream bathe the shores and give the surf a temperature that rarely falls below 70.

This life out in the open during the 365 days of each year is one of the most appealing things about Florida. And it is what makes her sons and daughters the personification of buoyant health and her infants the greatest wonder of all the state's marvelous products.

Thirty-seven of Finest Golf Courses
With thirty-seven of the most nearly perfect golf courses in America calling the devotee of the game from his ice-bound home in the north to come and pass care-free days beneath tropical skies, in pursuit of happiness in his chosen way, the wonder is that the tourist does not invariably forsake his native state and become forthwith a Floridian.

For the fisherman the state has a peculiar charm. The waters abound with fish of many varieties, ranging from the bream and trout of the fresh water lakes and streams and the little sand perch of salt-water bays and inlets to the lordly tarpon, known by the title of "silver king," a king, indeed, since no game fish has ever waged a battle for his life with man at one end of the line and fish at the other.

For many years Florida held the world's record for the largest tarpon. This fish was caught near Miami seventeen years ago by N. M. George, of Danbury, Conn. It weighed 213 pounds and measured seven feet and four inches, long, and forty-four inches around the middle.

Some of America's foremost capitalists and financiers come to Florida to hunt tarpon and other game fish. Many of the most accomplished anglers, however, prefer the bonefish, a game fish weighing from three to seven pounds that always puts up a heroic fight, which has caused the bonefish to rank as the tarpon's most dangerous rival in the esteem of fishermen. The bonefish is even more difficult to land than the "silver king," because of extreme weariness and the bony nature of the mouth into which the hook rarely sinks.

Can Hunt the Devil Fish.
Fish are not alone of the sea's denizens the attraction for northern sportsmen. Many strange and uncouth creatures are found on occasions. Among them are manatee or sea cows, various members of the turtle family, sharks, crocodiles, alligators, octopus, sea devils or devilfish and cowfish.

On Wednesday, December 17, 1916, W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., killed a monster devilfish while cruising among the Bahama Islands some 200 miles from the Florida coast. The sea devil was nine feet long, sixteen feet across and weighed more than a ton. It had two horns over two feet long. Mr. Vanderbilt had searched the seas for many years for a devilfish and spent a comfortable fortune in the chase, but had never before succeeded in thrusting his harpoon into one.

It took ten men five and a half hours to land the sea devil and then it was necessary to drive eight harpoons into it and fire twenty-five pounds of ammunition from a high-power Manlicher rifle at close range. Such are the creatures that appeal to hunters in Florida's waters.

Florida's thousands of lakes and landlocked bays are ideal for boating and draw many beautiful and expensive craft from the upper stretches of the Atlantic seaboard, and in recent years from as far west as Detroit, Mich., the great lakes region and the Mississippi valley. Yearly the number of boats from other states increases as yachtsmen learn that they can enjoy their favorite pastime and at the same time bask in the genial sunshine and vary their amusements accordingly to their desires with fishing, bathing, golfing, motoring and on the tennis courts, or in the marshes, woods and fields in pursuit of wild fowl, bear and deer.

The resident of the bleak north knows in a general way that Florida is down in the southeast corner of the United States, or "way down south," as he is probably accustomed to think of it. But no doubt he has never taken the trouble to consult an atlas and ascertain just how far south the state is in comparison with foreign resorts he is familiar with.

If the reader will turn to a map of the world he will learn that Florida is one the same parallel as the north-central part of the great desert of Sahara, southern Tripoli, Egypt, Arabia and southern Persia, and is almost tropical in its fauna and flora.

The orange and grapefruit groves are among the greatest attractions for the winter visitor, and later the pineapples, bananas, guava, avocado, sour sops, mammees apples, soppodillas, custard apples, papayas, dates and other fruit of a distinctively tropical nature are a source of wonder and delight.

To the average person who has never visited Florida the state is a land of mystery. Tales in the old school books first created this impression, and later, stories told by natives who could not resist the desire to "string" some credulous tenderfoot have kept that belief alive. But the most active spreader of misinformation is the newcomer who noses for the benefit of those arriving in the state at a later date.

The much-maligned Everglades have long been regarded as one of the world's most inaccessible and mysterious regions, but as reclamation proceeds and the plow and the hoe turn the virgin soil and crops of marvelous yield are produced, this impression gives way to enlightenment, but amazement at nature's prodigality remains to stupefy the beholder.

Florida's Resort Towns
Florida's resort towns may be divided into three classes: East coast, west coast and central. As the name implies, the east coast resorts are situated on the eastern shores of the peninsula, while those of the west coast border on the gulf of Mexico. Those in the central part nestle amid myriad lakes or rivers.

The east coast resorts include Jacksonville, which may be likened to the gateway of the state; St. Augustine, Ormond, Daytona, Seabreeze, Palm Beach, Miami and Long Key Fishing Camp. Among the lake region resorts are Sanford, Palatka, Orlando, Astor, Deland, Orange City, Florence of Figs"

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PUBLIC HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Madam President and Members of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs:

The work of the public health department for the last year was modeled largely from the work outlined by the public health department of the general Federation, and by suggestions from the children's bureau. Its scope has been as broad as possible, with special emphasis on the particular needs of our own state and her clubs.

We have lost somewhat, I am sure, because our efficient predecessor could not hand down to us personally either her work, experience with the clubs and individuals, or her aims. Much that we have been able to do, however, is because of the firm foundation that she built for us. At the very beginning, it was necessary to form an entirely new personnel for the department members--no easy task. We have been particularly fortunate in our choice, nevertheless. Much help has been given me by the individual members of my department.

Three series of letters have been sent to all the club presidents, two of them mimeographed, and one containing a questionnaire. Many clubs have had other communications in addition to these. The letter pertaining to "Baby Week" having the approval of the chairman of the Conservative Department, was signed by her, with me.

In answer to the questionnaire, sixty-eight clubs responded. Of this number, eighteen have public health departments, with chairmen and twenty-eight others do, or have done, public health work under different committees or departments.

Besides the series of letters, I have written 327 letters, 103 postcards, sent two telegrams and two long distance calls. The postage for the Red Cross Seal work was paid by that commission; otherwise, I have paid the postage, amounting to about $11, supplied some of the materials, and the typing. The letters have comprised everything from club programs, outlining public health work for clubs wishing to add such an activity, outlining village sanitary work, references, help with the Christmas seal and "Baby Week" work, to writing to railroads for clubs, asking them to establish sanitary closets in their stations.

I have prepared four reports for the biennial, and several notices for the Federation pages. I have attended one board meeting, had two conferences with our president in Jacksonville, spoken before three clubs and at our district meeting. It is my great regret that my many other interests do not allow me to go oftener to clubs inviting me to talk of this department work.

We began our Christmas seal work at the last annual meeting. The work was unexpectedly complicated by our clubs not being the sole agents, as we had expected. However, of the 290,874 seals sold in Florida, our clubs sold 194,428. $1,174.46 worth of seals was sold by the Jacksonville Woman's club and the proceeds used, as is customary in this case, by them to support their excellent health work. $345.37 was sent by us to the Red Cross society, in Jacksonville, and our own 10 per cent agent's commission netted our department $55.96. Only one club retained the 10 per cent. Our clubs worked bravely under adverse circumstances, and are to be rewarded this year by a more favorable prospect for the work.

In March, "Baby Week" was celebrated successfully in Florida, I believe, although direct reports to me, as requested personally and through the pages, were few and far between. However, thirty-three communities reported to the Children's Bureau that they had held such an observance, varying from a day to a full week. The week in Jacksonville is said to have been the best in the south. I believe that at least 75 clubs held or promoted some kind of "celebration" during this time. Letters were sent to Governor Park Trammell asking him to proclaim a "Baby Sunday" and to Dr. Porter, of our state board of health, and to the presidents of all the county medical societies, asking their co-operation in this work. Dr. Porter and several of the doctors responded warmly.

Four papers, briefly covering the scope of our present work (social hygiene, child hygiene, tuberculosis and village sanitation), have been prepared, for the use of the clubs; these, with appropriate discussions, make a program for an afternoon. Any club may have these for the asking, and six cents in postage. Three of the members of my department contributed papers to this collection. Ten books and eighteen pamphlets on public health subjects have been sent for reference by this department for the traveling libraries. One set of three books and a pamphlet is to be the nucleus of a public health unit, with a case of its own.

We approve the "Outline for a Study Course on Public Health, prepared for the use of Women's Clubs," by the American Medical association. We recommend it for a study course for clubs wishing to work along this line. A limited number of these pamphlets may be obtained from me, or from the American Medical association, 535 North Dearborn street, Chicago.

Letters have been sent recently to the governor and other members of the board of state institutions, urging ing them to provide some means of segregation and care for the tuberculous patients at the prison farm, near Raiford. About twenty-five prisoners, in all stages of the disease, are mingling, because of lack of special provision for them, with the other prisoners. Answers have been received from all, saying that such a provision is contemplated for the future. We trust that future is nearer than that of some of the other of our institutions.

We have loaned, with the approval of the board of directors, our fund, amounting to $600 to the Federation, for use in building the lodge of the Royal Palm State Park; this draws interest at 4 per cent.

At present twelve nurses are employed by the state board of health to engage in anti-tuberculosis work. We feel sure that the increase is due, in part, at least, to the former efforts of this department. We recommend that this number be increased until each county has a public trained nurse demonstrating work with all diseases and conditions, as well as with tuberculosis.

This department is working with the conservation and home economics department on a tick eradication propaganda. I have just completed a pamphlet on the subject. In this, I have had the counsel and advice of the chairman of the conservation department.

A very advantageous contract has been signed by us with the Florida Anti-tuberculosis association by which our clubs become the sole agents for the Red Cross Christmas seals this year, in all territories having federated clubs, with the exception of Jacksonville, Tampa and St. Augustine. Of the net proceeds of this sale we receive 80 per cent., the amount to be used by our Federation in anti-tuberculosis work in our own state. That should inspire each club and each member of each club to make an unprecedented effort in the seal sale, and give our Federation an opportunity to do some real work along anti-tuberculosis lines.

We are urging the establishment of sanatoria, preferably one to each county, for the care of the indigent tuberculous, and for those able to pay part or all of their expenses. We have absolutely no provision for the prime or pauper so afflicted in our state. It is a crying need.

I take this opportunity to thank the many clubs and enthusiastic women for the help and inspiration they have given me; especially do I thank the busy woman who always has time to do the real things that count. When I want work done I go to the really busy individual.

Respectfully submitted,
GRACE WHITFORD, M. D.,
Chairman Public Health Department,
Florida Federation Women's Clubs.

ANNUAL REPORT DEPARTMENT OF FORESTRY

Madam President and Members of the Florida Federation Women's Clubs:

It is a pleasure to report that there is a genuine and widespread interest in forestry among the various clubs, and a great deal of work has actually been done in beautifying highways and tree planting, throughout our state.

Since the appointment of your chairman last January, 470 pieces of mail have been sent out in the interest of the forestry work. Recently, in response to letters sent to various clubs, more than sixty replies have been received, and with one exception they are doing or planning to do some specific work along the lines mapped out by the forestry committee. We regret that space does not permit reproduction of all these letters in this report, for they show a unity of purpose among the clubs that means much for the future of forestry in our state. We quote from some of them that you may see that the time is not far distant when all of our highways shall be made beautiful, and towns and communities made more attractive with trees, shrubs and flowers.

The Woman's Club of Fort Pierce, during the 1915-16 year, has given away over 200 slips and cuttings of ornamentals, has sold over 500 eucalyptus Robusta trees, raised from seed by members of the club; has presented enough of the same trees to plant entirely around the cemetery; has offered to the county, free of charge, enough trees and various ornamentals to plant twenty-three miles of the Dixie Highway.

The Woman's Civic League of Winter Haven, have planted 550 trees upon the streets of the town, and when the Dixie Highway is completed, is ready to do everything possible to beautify their section.

The Woman's Club of Lake Worth has set apart the fourth Tuesday in October as their annual Tree Day, or Conservation Day, and celebrated the first by securing the co-operation of a number of the citizens and planting nearly 100 trees and shrubs on the Dixie Highway. The club has pledged to do its share of work on the Dixie Highway, in order to make possible the parking of the road from one boundary of the county to the other.

The Woman's Club of Large has planted between 250 and 300 trees, Australian pines and oaks, rubber and eucalyptus, along the principal streets of Large.

The Ormond V. I. A. has been instrumental in having hibiscus planted along the avenue, which is part of the Dixie Highway, and date palms and camphor trees have been planted on another portion of the highway.

Brooksville Club has planted one of the country roads with palms and hibiscus, and several blocks in the city with allamanda and the graceful bamboo. They are now rooting white cleanders and red hibiscus for the highways.

The Junior Civic League of Springfield Improvement association, Jacksonville, has planted fifty trees on school grounds, and palms in the grounds of St. Luke's hospital, and gave $10 to Royal Palm State Park.

Ocala Woman's club has planted oaks along the highway from Ocala to Silver Springs, wherever the natural forest failed to shade the road, and have planted trees around the hospital grounds.

In a number of counties the clubs are forming county federations to care for the highways; this seems to be the ideal method, as unity of purpose will insure harmonious results in colors and colors throughout each county, and enable us to preserve the color scheme outlined for the different highways. The colors of the Dixie Highway are red, white and blue.

At the meeting of the board of directors, Florida Federation Women's Club, at Sanford, August 24th, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolution on Ingraham Highway
Whereas, it is greatly desired that a color scheme and uniformity of planting be adopted for Ingraham Highway, therefore,

Be it resolved, that the county commissioners of Dade county be asked to adopt the colors of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, green and gold, emblematic of the orange and leaf, for the Ingraham Highway colors, and that Royal Palms be alternated with yellow flowering shrubs designated for planting on said highway. That the same variety of shrubs alternating with palms be planted not less than a mile before another variety be used, to insure uniformity of the color motif. That palms be placed not farther than forty feet apart, and that thirty feet be considered more desirable, and that planting be done at least fifteen feet from center of road to each side planting on forty-foot right-of-way; twenty-five feet from center of road on sixty-foot right-of-way, and thirty feet from center of road to each side planting on eighty-foot right-of-way, leaving at all times as much natural growth and scenery as possible.

Be it resolved, further, that the chairman of forestry of the Federation be permitted to select the varieties of shrubs to be planted between palms, other than the bush allamanda, the yellow lantana, the yellow elder, which are recommended, and also that yellow jessamine, bigonia venusta and other yellow flowering vines be used on forest trees on highways, and

Be it resolved, further, that the president of the Federation be authorized to send a copy of this resolution to the honorable board of county commissioners of Dade county, asking their co-operation and authority to plant in accordance with this resolution.

The county commissioners have acted favorably on this resolution.

The great menace to the forestry work in Florida is forest fires, and your chairman respectfully urges every member of the clubs of the Federation to use her influence to secure the enforcement of the laws regulating forest fires. In this connection we beg to call attention to the need of a state forester, and an appropriation that would entitle us to the Federal aid given under such circumstances, by the State Fire Co-operation Branch of the Forestry Bureau at Washington.

Expenses for printing and postage $8.05, which I cheerfully donate to the cause. Respectfully submitted,

MRS. M. A. CLONTS,
Chairman Forestry, F. F. W. C.

NOTES OF INTEREST

Appointments

Dr. Mary B. Jewett, Winter Haven, was appointed by the board of directors as general Federation secretary, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. William Hocker, of Ocala.

The following appointments were also made by the president of the Federation: Mrs. W. T. Gary, Ocala, as chairman of the Home Economics department, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. A. Leigh Monroe, of Miami.

Mrs. E. C. Loveland, Homestead, was appointed chairman of Royal Palm State Park to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. John Gifford, of Coconut Grove.

Mrs. Marjorie Stoneman Douglas, Miami, was appointed editor for the Miami Herald Federation page, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Grace Jarrett.

Mrs. George M. Wright, appointed editor Federation page in "Florida Schoolroom."

The municipal rest room, conducted under the management of the Ocala Women's club, has had over 8,000 people register at the rest room from June to December, with 900 of these registering in December. The council granted the Woman's club $50 a month to establish this rest room, and under their splendid management, have reduced the appropriation to $40 per month. It has been found a great boon to the women, who come in to shop from the country. This most successful project was undertaken by club women and it is hoped that other clubs in the state will follow their example.

The St. Lucie County Federation of Women's Clubs have pledged themselves to plant twenty-five miles of the Dixie Highway. They have already planted ten miles in eucalyptus trees, five miles in blue jacaranda, and have eucalyptus trees for ten miles more, and are only waiting for the road to be put in proper condition for the planting to be done. The president, Mrs. Edgar Lewis, and Mrs. Abdill have 2,500 red hibiscus cuttings rooted, to assist in carrying out the red, white and blue color scheme for the Dixie Highway. White blendings will be used extensively. The beautiful part of the whole work is that the club women are raising the plants from seeds and cuttings themselves. This is the greatest mileage of pledging for the beautification by any organization in the state.

The Woman's Club of Miami in co-operation with the W. C. T. U. and the council have just succeeded in establishing a comfort station and rest room.

The Woman's Club of Miami, through the recommendation of the council and W. C. T. U., has secured the appointment of a traveler's aid, which is doing splendid work this season.

Mrs. William Jennings Bryan has tendered her services to the president of the Federation for a week of addresses on Woman's Suffrage, before the federated clubs of the state, and an itinerary is now being arranged from Miami to Jacksonville. It is hoped that Mrs. Bryan will also be able to give more of her time, and visit the clubs on the west coast also. However, the one week is all she has promised so far.

Many of the clubs have been studying political science for several years, and the suffrage talk is right in line with the Equal Suffrage legislation, pending in congress at the present time. Mrs. Bryan is an exceedingly interesting speaker, a retiring woman, a beautiful housekeeper, a charming hostess, and besides her many home duties superintends the education of her grandson, and is in every sense a model mother and home-maker. What she has to say on the subject of suffrage will no doubt be of great interest to club women generally. The club women of Florida are most fortunate in having this opportunity.

WOMAN'S CLUB, FORT PIERCE

(Mrs. W. E. VanLandingham, Cor. Secy.)

As its share in the work of planting ornamentals along the Dixie Highway, as planned by the Saint Lucie County Federation of Women's clubs, the Woman's club of Fort Pierce assumed responsibility for twenty-three miles. Under the supervision of the civic committee, Mrs. Richard Whyte, chairman, and through the active efforts of the committee on country roads, Mrs. C. M. Abdill, chairman, ten miles of this distance are already planted with eucalyptus robusta trees, fifty feet apart. Along one five-mile stretch of road, fourteen clumps of giant bamboo and fifty Jacaranda trees are already set, while the seed beds contain many seeds of the latter, freshly sprouted and soon ready for planting.

Club members report about three thousand rooted cuttings of the red Hibiscus, as well as an indefinite number of crotons and other foliage plants. All ornamentals are grown by club women and furnished the county free of charge.

The civic committee, Mrs. Richard Whyte, chairman, has, within the last month, planted in the court house yard thirty-nine cocoanut palms, four sage palms, four royal palms, one large date palm, two Norfolk pines, fifty-six crotons and one hundred and sixty red foliage plants.

The social committee, Mrs. F. L. Hemmings, chairman, were hostesses at a pleasant reception on New Year's day, from 2 to 5 o'clock. Guests were served at numerous small tables, and further entertained by musical and dramatic numbers.

A large banner covered one end of the hall, and on it was printed in large letters: "A happy New Year! Will you help so that we may greet you in our new club house in 1918?"

A gratifying silver offering was the result.

On the morning of Monday, January 8th, the president of the club, Mrs. Edgar Lewis, received a telegram announcing the arrival at 11:30 of that day, of Mrs. W. S. Jennings, state president, F. F. W. C., en route from Miami to Jacksonville.

Mrs. Jennings arrived "on time" even a luxurious "winter special" has to come up to schedule when our whirlwind president is aboard.

Immediately on her arrival, telephone messages began flying all over Saint Lucie county, and as a result, about fifty members of the various county Federation clubs and their good husbands, greeted Mrs. Jennings in the early evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lewis, on Riverside Drive.

One delegation came from "Vigorous Vere," twenty miles away, and every body declared the length of the county would not have been too much, with the pleasure and benefit of an evening with the state president as a reward. Mrs. Jennings spoke entertainingly and at length of Royal Palm State Park, and the contemplated Federation Endowment edition of the Tampa Daily Times.

She left for Jacksonville at 9:30 p. m.

FEDERATION RECEPTION AT WINDSOR HOTEL

Dear Club Women:
We wish every one of you could have attended the beautiful reception given at the Windsor hotel Monday, to the club women of Jacksonville, at which our president, Mrs. W. S. Jennings, was the charming hostess. As you

Promptly at 4 o'clock, the reception began, with our president and our two general Federation dignitaries, Mrs. W. B. Young, treasurer, and Miss Louise Meigs, director, heading line, which was continued by the president of the various clubs and women's associations in Jacksonville. The spacious parlor was soon filled with guests, who passed down the receiving line, then chatted together, listening to the delightful music of the orchestra, and visiting the refreshment room.

Presidents of thirty-one organizations were invited to assist in receiving. About 2,000 ladies attended the reception.

The sweet young daughters of some of the club mothers, in lovely frocks, were circulating among the guests, adding to the beauty of the scene.

The guests inspected this hotel, which is really the oldest of the great hotels of the city, and considered for "home folks." It is entirely remodeled, and very attractive; the new glass dining room, overlooking Hogan street from the second floor, the exquisite Japanese tea room, the lobby and the balcony upstairs surrounding the pillared spaces below, were full of attractively gowned women, admiring and enjoying the new Windsor.

Toward the close of the second hour, the writer was sent by the president to bring Mr. Kavanaugh, the proprietor, and our host of the afternoon, to meet the ladies. He came with the writer until he reached the door and saw the receiving line, and then balked, utterly and completely, and begged sues his investigation further, that the rest of the state pays tribute to Jacksonville for almost everything the people eat or wear, since nearly all foodstuffs and articles of clothing are shipped in.

St. Augustine, the next stopping place, wears an air of antiquity and points with pride to the house where Ponce de Leon slept while searching for the fountain of youth, to its old Spanish forts and its great and beautiful tourist hotels of the Flagler system. It has long claimed the distinction of being the oldest white settlement in the United States, a statement none disputes. Golf, tennis and other out-of-door sports, including motoring over the smooth brick roads, are the principal forms of entertainment.

At Ormond and Daytona, which may be called twin resorts, one sees a beach that is the wonder of the world and the envy of all other towns that capitalize their advantages by advertising them abroad. Bathing, boating, fishing, golf and the other open-air pleasures and excellent hotels are the advantages the residents thus seek to turn into gold.

Palm Beach is the Mecca of America's ultra exclusive society, and during the season presents a picture of splendor equaled nowhere else on the continent. The hotels are magnificent, and many residents along the ocean beach are the homes of America's captains of finance and leaders of society. In midwinter Palm Beach presents a scene of gaiety, unrivaled in the western world. It is, indeed, a rival to Monte Carlo.

In Miami the visitor sees a city that is southern in its geographical situation alone, while in the spirit that impels its people to undertake and carry out great plans it is distinctly northern. At least 75 per cent of the inhabitants came from northern or western states, but it must be admitted that some of the most enterprising citizens are from the old south.

Miami, the Progressive. Miami is easily the most progressive city of the south, as indicated by the $1,500,000 expenditure for new buildings in 1916, and $500,000 ship channel now nearing completion, a $1,000,000 causeway authorized to cross Biscayne bay, a distance of over three miles; magnificent homes and hotels, paved streets and other municipal improvements; the city's $20,000,000 tax valuation and the wide-awake, determined, hustling spirit of its 25,000 inhabitants. The city is twenty years old.

It is when he reaches this part of the state that the visitor realizes he is in an almost tropical land. The coconut palms, royal palms and the other varieties of the palm tree, the fruits and the flowers, all are distinctive of the tropics. One still catches an occasional glimpse of the gray Spanish moss and palmettoes he saw further north, as he motors over highways that compare favorably with anything else America has to offer, but nearly all other growth is different from what he saw there.

A visit to Florida is by no means complete if the tourist fails to ride over the Key West extension, as the famous Overseas railway from the mainland to Key West is known. Its construction, at a cost of many million dollars, is one of the world's greatest engineering feats.

When the tourist reaches the west coast he almost invariably gravitates to St. Petersburg, which acknowledges only one strong rival as the leading resort city of Florida, Miami. Fishing is the greatest asset, though by no means the only one possessed by St. Petersburg. Bathing, boating and all of the other Florida pleasures are found there. Fauna and flora are much the same as on the opposite side of the peninsula.

Resorts in the Hills. Since Florida's highest elevation is only 300 feet above sea level, it seems almost absurd to speak of a town as "nestling among the hills," but if this can be said truthfully of any town in the state it applies to Lakeland.

The other resorts in the central or lake region are greater in elevation than the coast towns. Nearly all are close to lakes or rivers. There are ninety-seven lakes within a five mile radius of Florence Villa and Orlando is close to sixteen lakes.

A score of Florida resorts have awakened to the knowledge that it pays to advertise. Each contributed to a fund for boosting the entire state. The advertisements appeared in northern newspapers contained the names of boards of trade in the cities contributing to the fund with the request that interested persons write to them for information.

FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

to be excused so touchingly, that he was left, under promise to remain until Mrs. Jennings could be brought to him. Her more earnest pleadings prevailed, or perhaps he stood in greater awe of a president, for he accompanied her within the room, and was taken down the line, receiving the enthusiastic thanks and praise of the many presidents. At the suggestion of the president of the Federation, Mr. Cavanaugh said that this reception should be an annual affair.

The club women of the state, in passing through Jacksonville, to and from their summer vacations, cannot put up at "The Club," as men travelers do, occasionally, but they can stop at the "Clubwomen's Hotel," the Windsor, and see the place and the man that did honor to the Federation through its president last Monday.

MRS. H. S. JENISON,
Press Chairman, F. F. W. C.

SPECIAL EDITION OF TAMPA DAILY TIMES

The Florida Federation of Women's clubs has signed a contract with the Tampa Daily Times for a special edition to be issued about the last week in February. This edition will be issued to raise funds for the Federation endowment fund, and the club women belonging to the Federation clubs of the state are expected to help make this edition one of the most successful ever issued in Florida. A letter to the club women will be sent out by the president next week also a letter will be sent to advertisers. All clubs will be notified of the date of this issue for all clubs will be expected to take a certain number of papers and sell them on this day, which will be called "State Federation Endowment Fund Day." With united efforts there is no reason why this issue of the Tampa Daily Times should not put into the Federation's Treasury a large sum of money to the credit of the Federation Endowment fund.

If any club woman has any suggestion to make of any kind, the president who is chairman of the Endowment committee, which is composed of the officers of the Federation, will be most glad to receive them.

GENERAL FEDERATION MAGAZINE CAMPAIGN

Copy of Letter Sent Out By Press Chairman Last Week.

Dear Madam President:

Will you please bring the matter of this letter to the attention of your press chairman, local reporter, or secretary, and urge upon them co-operation with our plans for a better press service?

As the letterhead shows, the Federation has a page in each of the five papers mentioned, published each Sunday. No other Federation has the publicity we boast. We desire to run one column a week of interesting and spicy club notes, in addition to our other matter, and to this end ask that your club send us a monthly letter of your activity and plans.

The General Federation Magazine, $1.00 per year, official organ of the general Federation, is a most excellent magazine, and should be in the hands of every club woman. The publishers allow 25 per cent of each subscription or renewal to be retained for the Florida Federation Endowment fund. In addition to this, a contest is on, with a large cash prize to be awarded the Federation sending the largest number of subscriptions or renewals, in proportion to its membership, between January 1st and April 30th. Our desire is for an every-member canvass in every club in the Federation, conducted by press chairman or secretary, and helpers. Why not have a "General Federation Magazine Day," advertised beforehand when every member would be prepared for solicitation. All subscriptions should be sent to the Federation press chairman, at address given below.

In addition to the report of each club meeting in your local paper, could not a column be secured in your county paper, perhaps once a month, as a beginning, open to the club women of the county.

Trusting to have your cordial co-operation in these plans, I beg to remain yours for improved press work.

MRS. H. S. JENISON,
Press Chairman Florida Federation Women's Clubs, 1912 Perry street, Jacksonville, Fla.
January 18, 1917.

It has come to our attention that a chain letter is being circulated among the club women of the Federation, offering the magazine for 50c per year. A letter to the management brought in response the following night letter: (copy)

Mrs. H. S. Jenison,
1912 Perry street, Jacksonville, Fla. Chain letter plan discarded several months ago. Will protect you fully on commission, and work with you. No cut in subscription. Letter follows Tuesday.

General Federation Magazine. As the press chairman is the business representative of the magazine, and as it is her ambition to be able to turn over to the Endowment fund a large sum from the press committee, will you not see that your club sends in several subscriptions? Each week we hope to report what the clubs are doing.

So far we can report:
Jacksonville Woman's club, five.
St. Petersburg Woman's Town Improvement association, two.

Jacksonville Woman's club will be canvassed this week by the press committee. In an hour's time yesterday, at the phone, your chairman secured the promise of thirteen subscriptions.

ROYAL PALM PARK NOTES

Right now the hammock is full of migratory birds. It will be interesting to see which, if any, do not go further south for the winter.

Some visitors to the park have been surprised to see no birds. It would be strange if a laughing, chattering party should see any wild wood birds. But if you will take the time to woo these wood nymphs properly, and go in the migratory season, be assured you shall be rewarded. Go quietly, one or two together, settle down in some likely spot, and if you are worthy of your good luck, they will come about you.

There are times, like Sunday, December 31st, when you cannot help seeing them despite the crowd, that is, if your bird eyes and bird ears are open. Right over the many picnickers by the tent, within a few minutes, the writer saw a blue-headed vireo, several blue-gray gnat-catchers, caught catalizing grays of many more flitting forms in the tree tops, and heard the robins call, not to mention crows. We heard strange notes that set us wild with eagerness to stay and learn what bird produced them. What a wonderful opportunity to study our birds, either of marsh or land.

The orchard circle is one of the latest bird visitors to be heard in the park, and in his garb burnt orange and black he adds a gorgeous fleck of color to the tropical scene.

The week ending December 31st recorded many visitors, numbering about 18 auto loads, in all about forty-four persons. We regret that lack of space forbids giving names and addresses. Many visitors besides these do not register.

MRS. E. C. LOVELAND,
Chairman Park Committee.

BAY FRONT TRACT FOR SUBDIVISION AT BISCAYNE HEIGHTS

The estate of the late Dr. Millidge is being closed out and among other properties to be sacrificed is the big Bay Front tract of nearly twenty acres at Biscayne Heights, extending from the Dixie Highway to Biscayne Bay, with full riparian rights and privileges.

When the Bay Shore is straightened out with a suitable fill, this tract will contain more than twenty acres, and is beyond doubt the---

GRANDEST OPPORTUNITY FOR HIGH CLASS SUBDIVISION

Or Gentleman's Country Estate to be found in Florida. This property has a frontage of about

900 FEET ON THE FAMOUS DIXIE HIGHWAY

and nearly as much on Biscayne Bay.

This tract has been held off the market and undeveloped, as Dr. Millidge, who resides in Virginia, anticipated making this his home after retiring from his college work. To close up the estate quickly the executors have decided to offer this splendid tract for a few days only at a very low price.

There is nothing like it any where near Miami at any price. It is only three and one-half miles from the city limits, and is almost completely surrounded by high-class development.
